

Sud Academy Update

May 2013

Welcome to our first newsletter of 2013! Term one was a full of activity for students at Sud Academy, as highlighted below. And the new class of students that will be graduating from secondary level this year have a busy time ahead of them.

Some highlights from Term 1:

- A second small business workshop was held, coordinated by a business woman from the U.K.
- Thirty-six students were registered for their final secondary level examinations.
- The basketball team attended a training day hosted by Sports Outreach Around the World.
- Repairs to the facilities were completed (improved drainage, new flooring in 3 classrooms), thanks to generous assistance from the Thunder Foundation.

Featured student: Daniel Deng Yel

Daniel is 18 years old and in his final year of secondary school. He was separated from his family at age six during the war in Southern Sudan, ended up in a refugee camp in northern Kenya, and later came to Nairobi with the help of some friends. He hopes to finish high school this year and then head back to Southern Sudan to search out his family and find a job. Teachers say he is one of the best performing students in his class!

Please consider a donation to Sud Academy so we can continue to help students like Daniel realize their God-given potential.
